Rhonda's Report (for 30 July 2014)

Maurice Kerrigan was the guest speaker at our club this week. He spoke about a new program that the Rotary Club of Doncaster was promoting. This is a leadership program called 'Challenge to Lead'. I applaud the initiative of the club to look outside the normal avenues of fund raising whilst also adding real value in developing and growing some leaders. It doesn't really matter that the focus here is on business leadership, because that type of leadership transcends to all levels of the community.

On Friday night, Ros, Malcolm and I attended a district forum on Membership. One point that came from the meeting was that the clubs that are very successful with building and retaining memberships were those that had a strong fellowship focus.

Another point was that they kept the meeting to succinct reporting and an interesting Speaker. More often than not the topic would be on some of the projects undertaken by Rotary. The speaker generally had some hands on involvement which made the talk come to life. This had the effect of enabling all to understand the project but to also feel the passion.
