FOUNDATION

Following is a good example of how donations to Foundation are being used in Australia to help improve the lives of indigenous Aborigines.

When at-risk students at the Shaftesbury Rodeo Academy in rural Queensland want to ride the bulls at the Friday night rodeo, they know the rules. Did they attend class? Do their homework? Help manage the livestock? If so, these aspiring rodeo heroes can take the challenge and attempt to ride the bulls for a heart stopping eight seconds!

Taking the bull by the horns

Funded by a grant from The Rotary Foundation, the new school has met with tremendous success, providing an education to youth from the Wakka Wakka Aboriginal people. Students are required to attend school from Monday – Thursday, learning basic education and tending a herd of beef cattle. When the students graduate, they leave with strong academic knowledge as well as viable farming skills.

See the smiles of success

Many of the students came to the program unable to read or write, even if they had been to school. Watch the brief video below and see how this program is impacting the lives of these young people. Their smiles of success and pride in achievement say it all. Your support of the Rotary Foundation continues to make it happen!

Make a gift to Rotary's education projects today

Your gift to Rotary's Annual Fund allows us to continue supporting projects like these; projects that are driven by community needs and led by local members...and they're making a lasting difference in this Australian community. We can and want to do more! With support from donors like you, Rotary can continue championing basic education and literacy projects to build brighter futures for children around the world. Thank you for your continued support of Rotary and your commitment to changing lives!

Sincerely,

John T. Osterlund
Chief Development Officer
